TO DOUBLE OR NOT TO DOUBLE

I just can't get it. Why is it double consonant here and why not there?

Simple: that depends on how it ends

It still doesn't make any sense to me

Look, it's not a big deal. Just memorize the rule

What rule? I don't know any rule

This rule: consonant-stresses vowel-consonant.

I think I'm getting it. So this is why I spell opened with one p

Yes, and you spell planned with double p

It wasn't that hard, was it?
