A NEW ERA

Since Johannes Gutenberg's printing press things have changed

Then came the telephone by Bell and the radio by Edison

Later appeared the moving picture camera and the television

By mid 20th century computer made its debut

Since then communications have evolved really fast

We're no longer in the industrial era, but in the informatics one.

Illiteracy is no longer measured in terms of reading and writing...

but in terms of knowing how to use a computer or not,

besides knowing a foreign language

So get prepared for the new era: learn a foreign language and to wisely use a computer
